Dear FCC Commissioners. I'm writing to urge you to adopt rules that will not encourage further concentration of media ownership. This concentration has lead to a lack of editorial diversity, smaller news staffs, and increased economic pressure in corporate board rooms as they seek to maximize profits at the expense of disseminating quality information. I have been a working broadcast journalist for 26 years and have witnessed first hand the journalistic erosion. A free press is a cornerstone of democracy. A press stifled by corporate concentration is a threat to our freedoms. Please reverse the current trend. Sincerely, Rex E.
